Hendler to Co-Chair Rusk Circle
Among his targets for hospital funding is jewelry and fashion firms

Jack Hendler, president of the New York-based merger and acquisition firm Net Worth Solutions, Inc., will co-chair the Rusk Leadership Circle of the Rusk Institute of Rehabilitation Medicine of NYU Medical Center.

The volunteer leadership group will be committed to supporting philanthropy at NYU Medical Center. Hendler and his co-chair, William Constantine, managing director, Legg Mason Investment Counsel, will be inviting select individuals to participate in the Rusk Leadership Circle, which will be fully formed and operational by early 2008.

Hendler's objective is to generate support for the capital campaign within the fashion and finance industries. His firm, Net Worth Solutions, specializes in providing merger and acquisition services for industries that include jewelry, apparel, textiles, footwear, accessories, and leather goods.

"People in these industries tend to be very generous and energetic about supporting good causes," Hendler said.

The Rusk Leadership Circle will spearhead a multi-million dollar capital campaign to address facility and program needs at the Rusk Institute of Rehabilitation Medicine during the next decade.
